

Gordon Gillerman
Chief, Standards Services Division
National Institute of Standards and Technology

Gordon Gillerman is the Chief of the Standards Services Division in Technology Services at the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST). The Standards Services Division:

- advises federal agencies, works with US industry and other stakeholders on domestic and global standards and conformity assessment policy,
- operates the National Voluntary Laboratory Accreditation Program and the US inquiry point for the World Trade Organization's Technical Barriers to Trade Agreement and
- is a key information source for US industry on standards related market access issues through programs such as Notify US, a IT enabled information system that helps US industry anticipate and influence technical regulations in export markets.

Gordon has extensive experience in coordinating standards policy and development across a wide range of sectors critical to the US including homeland security, safety, health and protection of the environment. Gordon has been the NIST lead in designing and implementing conformity assessment programs as well as assisting in the development of performance standards to meet other federal agency and industry needs and fulfill NIST's role in coordinating standards and conformity assessment in the US. Gordon is the Public Sector Co-Chair of the American National Standards Institute's (ANSI) Homeland Security Standards Panel, a member of the Toy Industry Association, Toy Safety Certification Program's Oversight Council and a sought after lecturer on standards, conformity assessment and regulation.

Previous positions include leading government affairs for the largest US product safety certification and standard development organization, Underwriters Laboratories (UL) in Washington, DC, and Staff Engineer for the medical device and information technology sectors at UL's Northbrook, IL headquarters. Gordon has worked collaboratively within the standards community to enhance health, safety, the environment and security throughout his career. In 2008 Gordon received an Environmental Protection Agency Gold Medal. He has also received a Department of Commerce Bronze Medal and the ANSI Meritorious Service Award for his work in standards and conformity assessment.

Education: 1986 – Bachelors Degree BSEET – Bradley University – Peoria, IL