Collusion Detection
Las Vegas Style

Jeff Jonas
President
Systems Research & Development
jjonas@srdnet.com

Protecting an organization's assets is becoming an increasingly complex task. The back and forth war between attack and defense invariably means creating more sophisticated policies, procedures, and controls. However, even the most advanced protection measures can be rendered useless by collusion. Exceptional measures are needed to address the collusion factor. Collusion Detection Technology (CDTECH) provides organizations with a new weapon against the insidious threat of collusion.