

M D, 11:04 PM 11/4/1999 +0000, No Subject

Date: 4 Nov 99 16:04:49 MST
From: M D <mrdeath@usa.net>
To: key-recovery@nist.gov
X-Mailer: USANET web-mailer (M3.3.1.96)

My encryption keys are none of your business. I have the constitutionally protected freedom to say anything I want in any form I wish, including in an encrypted code. If you wish to try to break in, might I suggest a brute force key search. I wish you luck in trying to break 100+bit keys. Call me in a couple centuries when you succeed. That is your right. You don't get the right to a back door, only I and whoever I wish may have it.